FORMER KAISER ASKS GERMANY TO SIGN PEACE

Sends Message of Advice
by Special Courier to Weimar.

On Saturday "The Tribune" was enabled to secure another world news scoop with the special dispatch of correspondent Paul Williams, presenting the first authoritative and unqualified statement that Germany had decided to accept the peace treaty. Today's dispatch from Mr. Williams revealing the fact that William Hohenzollern, from his exile in Holland, sent a special courier to Germany urging his former subjects to submit to all allied terms and sign without delay makes possible the belief that the ex-kaesar's courier was the source of the Saturday scoop.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Copyright 1919: By the Tribune Company.)
COBLENZ, June 22, via Paris, June 22.—In Germany's hour of doubt, or was it only hesitation—came the unflinching advice of William Hohenzollern to sign.
It was taken to the nation's political leaders at Weimar by a trusted emissary, who long stood high among the privileged in the late imperial government. The kingly counsel which was delivered to him from Amerongen was carried to Frankfurt, Mayence, Coblenz and Cologne. In each of these cities he sounded public sentiment on the question of the treaty among influential officials of the old régime before he transmitted the decision of the former emperor.

Rhineland for Peace.
Whether these men were swayed by the news is not known, but the sentiment was in a position to announce truthfully to the powers at Weimar that the Rhinelanders wanted peace at almost any price. How the cabinet cabinet was affected by tidings from the deposed Prussian who fled to the sanctity of Holland when the feeling was good is not known here. The cabinet quit others will carry out the wishes of the majority of the people. At the same time it is true they are the wishes expressed by Wilhelm. How much weight his opinion now carries with the Germans is a subject of debate. The fact that he has been condemned by the Allies has not prejudiced him in their eyes. If he wants to know how they feel about it, ask the doughboys who live among them.

Papers Follow Advice.
"You can not run down the Kaiser to any of them," one doughboy told me.

It is singular that after a hurried burst of Rhineland cities by the message there appears in his wake a flood of editorialists urging that the treaty be accepted.
"The most disastrous move of all would be to let the Allies force us to accept peace by a further delay," said the Frankfurter Zeitung. "The pressure weighing down the German nation today is fearful enough. If it is the intention of the government to sign at the coercion of the enemy it requires no further moral justification, no new compulsion. A nation which has suffered so much in almost five years can demand that the government lead it from the misery of war by the shortest and quickest path. The alternative of a long and bloody struggle, a lack of courage on the part of the government, and the supporting parties must bear the consequences. It may be the decision of the rulers will preserve the German nation from what is the greatest and most dangerous mistake."

Rhineland Papers Warn Weimar.
The Coblenzer Volks Zeitung takes the attitude that the pressure of the Allies makes Weimar responsible, and continues: "The results will be unsatisfactory, if that which has been threatened is carried out. The terms will hardly be made milder after a further advance. On the contrary, the financial burdens will be increased and further territorial losses will be entailed."
The Cologne and Mayence papers today point out the dangers of not signing and urge that the treaty be accepted at once.

$5,000 in Silk Shirting
Stolen on Wabash Avenue

Silk shirting valued at $5,000 was stolen from the workrooms of Capper & Capper, Michigan boulevard haberdashers, Saturday night, when thieves went into the building in which the workrooms are located, at 29 South Wabash avenue, and escaped unnoticed by opening a rear door and hauling their loot away. The theft was discovered yesterday by a watchman.

PARIS, June 22.—[Delayed.]—Col. William S. Barker, head of the A. E. F. work of the Salvation Army, has offered Maj. Gen. McLaughlin, commanding the 1st division, 100,000 francs ($20,000) to be used in decorating the graves and battlefields of the division. Gen. McLaughlin will accept. Barker's offer says the money comes from the surplus operation of the Salvation Army canteen.

PARIS AWARDS ITALY ASIA COAL MINES FOR FIUME

ROME, June 17, via Paris, June 22.—I am reliably informed that the peace conference has given Italy concessions to coal mines in Asia Minor which produce millions of tons every year and which are capable of considerable expansion.

CUT BY CENSOR.

BY SPEARMAN LEWIS.
PARIS, June 22.—Added importance is attached here to Mr. Mann's dispatch from Rome by reason of the fact that the original, which was filed by telegraph, was suppressed, presumably by the Italian censor.

Mr. Mann forwarded a duplicate of his dispatch by mail to Paris. The revelation of concessions in Asia Minor to Italy is looked upon in Paris as an eleventh hour resort of the big three, after Italy's threat to withdraw from the conference when her claims for Fiume and Dalmatia were denied.

It is possible that it was these demands that Orlando wished to reveal when he asked for a secret session of the Italian chamber before the chamber voted against his government, thus forcing him out of office. The hesitancy of the Italian king in accepting Orlando's resignation as premier may have been due to his knowledge of the premier's accomplishment.

HANDCUFFED, HE DIVES OFF TRAIN; BREAKS HANDS

Robert M. Davidson, wanted in Chicago for forfeiting his bond on a confidence game charge, jumped from the Panama limited near Dyersburg, Tenn., early Friday morning and broke both his hands. He was handcuffed and leaped through a window. He was put in the bidevel hospital, last night. Davidson was being brought back by Detective Sergeant Edward Birmingham of the Chicago detecting bureau. He was arrested some time ago in New Orleans. Mrs. Catherine S. Tully, 2707 Mildred avenue, said he obtained $1,000 from her and failed to do anything in the lawsuit he was to prosecute for her. He gave bond and disappeared.

After the prisoner leaped the train ran a quarter of a mile before it stopped when Birmingham pulled the emergency cord. In the darkness he was impossible to locate the victim. He was found in the ditch the following morning.

Texas State Senator
Slain by a Farmer

Crowell, Tex. June 22.—W. S. Bell, state senator, died early today from gunshot wounds received late last night in an encounter with James Gafford, a farmer, and his wife. Everett Bell, his son, was shot, but not seriously hurt. Senator Bell with his two sons, the police say, were about to enter an automobile in front of Bell's theater when Mrs. Gafford attacked one of the boys. When Bell interfered Gafford is said to have begun firing. Five shots struck Senator Bell.

Gafford and his wife were wounded and are being guarded by police.

ITALY, AUSTRIA NEAR AGREEMENT IN SOUTH TYROL

BY FARMER MURPHY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
(Copyright 1919: By the Tribune Company.)
VIENNA, June 20, via Paris, June 22.—According to reliable information, political rapprochement is materializing between Italy and Austria. Segre, chief of the Italian mission at Vienna, is going to Innsbruck to meet Tyrolean representatives concerning the fate of Germans in south Tyrol, now occupied and claimed by the Italians under the provisions of the treaty of London.

Italy is giving serious consideration to the proposal of Foreign Secretary Bauer whereby the entire German speaking Tyrol will be neutralized in a military respect and all danger removed for Italy. The territory concerned extends south of Bosen as far as Salurn, the most extreme of German speaking towns. Evidently Italy is willing to make concessions to Austria in view of the relations existing with the Jugo-Slavs. Vienna's respect and all danger removed for Italy. ## STAGE ALL SET FOR SIGNING OF PEACE TREATY

100 Delegates Will Affix Signatures; Hall of Mirrors Ready.

VERSAILLES, June 22.—[By the Associated Press.]—Arrangements are under way here for the signing of the peace treaty. Orders have been given to have everything in readiness Tuesday, although the ceremony, according to the Havas agency, is not likely to occur before Thursday.

The famous gallery of mirrors has received its final furnishings. The carpets have been laid and the ornamental table, with its eighteenth century gilt and bronze decorations, has been placed in position on the dais where the plenipotentiaries will be seated.

There will be room for 400 invited persons at the historic session. They will be given places in the left wing of the hall of mirrors, while the right wing will be occupied by about the same number of press representatives. Sixty seats have been allotted to the French press.

Program Up to Clemenceau.
The program of arrangements, as far as they have been settled, was submitted to Premier Clemenceau today.

The court of honor has been cleared of captured guns. Three regiments of infantry and five of cavalry will be on duty at the time. Republican guards in gala uniform will render the honors. They will be stationed on the grand staircase by which the plenipotentiaries enter the hall.

According to the Havas Agency, diplomatic relations with Germany will not be resumed immediately on the signing of the treaty, but only after its ratification. This also applies to the admission of German subjects into France.

One Hundred Delegates to Sign.
Fronting M. Clemenceau's presidential chair will be placed a small table on which the diplomatic instruments will be laid. It will be to this table that each representative is called in alphabetical order to sign his name to the treaty and affix to it his government seal. As there are 100 delegates, the ceremony is expected to take at least ninety minutes.

It is as yet uncertain whether M. Clemenceau will make a speech. It is considered as not unlikely that the Germans will raise a last protest at the moment of signing.

Police and Troops Ready.
The final preparations for the signing will be discussed at a meeting at the prefecture here tomorrow.

Prefect of Police Raux of Paris has been deputed by the minister of railways, following a favorable report by an investigating committee. The first line to be electrified will be that from Brussels to Luxembourg, and later the Brussels to Cologne railway.

Action to this end probably will be taken in August with the expectation of beginning the reconstruction work at the beginning of next year.

Electricification, it is said, will make it possible to go from Brussels to Antwerp in twenty-five minutes and to run trains at intervals of fifteen minutes.

They are Lieut. Jack Butterfield of Evanston, Ill.; Lieut. W. J. Fox, Buffalo, and Maj. E. A. Fox, Minneapolis, Minn. Butterfield and Fox were wounded, the former severely.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
(Washington Bureau of The Tribune.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.

SENATOR LODGE announced the abandonment of the Knox resolution asking the peace conference to submit the treaty in such form that action upon the league of nations covenant could be reserved for more mature deliberation.

Defection of ten Republicans made adoption of the resolution impossible. The movement to separate the covenant from the treaty in the senate also appears doomed to failure. With the creation of a league of nations and American participation therein assured the fight has narrowed down to the question whether the covenant shall be ratified with or without such reservations as former Senator Root suggested.

The president is expected to fight for ratification without qualification, but the Republicans are confident they can hold thirty-three more senators in line and reject the treaty unless qualified and thereby force the president to come to terms on provisions for the better protection of American rights and interests.

In announcing that the airplane mail hereafter will leave Chicago for Cleveland at 2:30 p. m., Assistant Postmaster General Frazer said that the aerial post shortens the time of mail transmission between Chicago and New York sixteen hours by enabling the delivery of mail in each in the afternoon instead of the following morning. He expects that the airplane mail service will be extended to Omaha and St. Louis in the fall.

The Association Opposed to National Prohibition proposes that all friends of "constitutional liberty" wear a delay in the buttonhole on June 23 as a protest against wartime prohibition, which goes into effect the following day.

CHARGES that the soldier settlement of Secretary of the Interior Lane is not only wasteful and paternalistic but imposes unnecessary hardship on the soldier settlers are made in a statement issued by former Senator John M. Weeks of Massachusetts. Mr. Weeks asserts that the expense of reclamation to be born by the soldier settlers could be avoided by the selection of available lands already fit for cultivation.

STERN LAWS OF WAR TO RULE IF ALLIES ADVANCE

Foch Orders Buildings in Which Snipers Hide
Burned to Ground.

COBLENZ, June 21.—[Delayed.]—[By the Associated Press.]—More than half a million allied soldiers in the occupied areas stood ready Saturday night for a further invasion of Germany. The troops concentrated ordered by Marshal Foch has been completed up and down the Rhine, and every detail has been worked out for an advance in the event that Germany does not accept the terms.

Even orders to the civilian populations, printed in French, English, and German, as framed by Marshal Foch, are ready for distribution in the districts and villages taken over by the allies.

Relax All Transportation.
One order provides for the requisitioning of the railways, telegraphs, telephones, and other utilities, as well as those employed in the services.

About 100,000 Americans will move forward if the final order comes. The concentration just completed is America's greatest display of strength since the armistice.

"Any house from which civilians have fired on allied troops will be burned," is a sentence in the proclamation of Marshal Foch prepared for distribution among civilians in the event the allies press on into the interior.

Guarantee Safety of Allies.
"The allies entering into German territory will respect persons and property and will enable the German population to carry on their ordinary business, provided the safety and movements of the allies are fully guaranteed."

"All personnel of public administration must remain at their posts and continue to carry out their duties under control of the allied armies. Any infraction of these orders will be punished in accordance with military regulations."

All persons guilty of any hostility against the allied troops, whether firing on them or destroying railways, roads, or waterways, or cutting or damaging telegraph or telephone lines, or in communicating with the enemy are amenable to military law. In all communes all arms must be handed over to the area commandant one hour after the proclamation of this order."

New York, June 22.—[Special.]—Maj. L. H. Armour of Chicago, a cousin of J. Armour, who was demobilized abroad, said there was a decided meat shortage in England and France. Both countries will be dependent on outside sources for their supply for a long time, he said.

KAISER ORDERED FLEET BE SUNK TO FOIL ALLIES

No German Man o' War
Must Be Given Up, His Instructions.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
Copyright, 1919.

LONDON, June 22.—It is now learned that the responsibility for scuttling the German ships belongs to German Admiral von Reuter. He informed the British commander that, believing the armistice terminated, he ordered the sinking of the ships in pursuance with orders given early in the war by the emperor, that no German man of war was to be surrendered. Von Reuter was made prisoner and the remainder of the crews interned.

The following telegram has reached the admiralty:

"Have found a copy of Von Reuter's detailed orders of recent date for the sinking of the ships. There were six German ships killed and ten wounded yesterday owing to their refusal to stop when called upon."

Admiral's German Spirit.

Arthur Pollen, the naval expert, in an interview in the Dispatch regarding the sinking of the German warships in Scapa Flow, admires the spirit of the Germans in sinking their ships rather than to allow them to pass into the possession of their enemies.

This writer emphasized the ease of scuttling demolition charges in a modern warship, adding "many people in the navy believe that the ships left Germany with dynamite charges already in position, and that when the decision of the peace conference was announced the Scapa Flow would be the scene of a big pyrotechnic display."

Easy to Sink the Fleet.

Commander Kenworthy, M. P., told the House of Commons that the sinking of the German ships was the easiest thing in the world to sink a ship by opening the Kingston valves or removing the covers to the condensers.

"The story is remarkable," said Lord Sydenham. "Explosives could not have been used, as they are believed to have been removed. Assuming that the Kingston valves were open, the ships would not sink in less than five hours. The loss of the ships does not matter, but it is annoying that we were outwitted."

Commander Bellairs, M. P., declared that no watch from the ground boats could have prevented the scuttling of the ships, and that the sailors on the spot are not to be blamed.

Foe True to Form.

"The admiralty is responsible," Commander Bellairs said, "for they made the armistice but did not think of the terms. The only lesson is that the first case of police work for the league of nations has been unsuccessful and that the German remains true to type."

Admiral Sir Percy Scott, interviewed by the Sunday Times, regards the sinking as something to be expected.

"It serves us right," he said, "for trusting the Hun. They showed throughout the war that they were not a civilized race, and they never ought to have been treated as such; they are barbarians."

"The public will insist upon the disclosure of the blunder or blunders whose egregious trustfulness was so cynically abused," says the Weekly Dispatch editorial. "As the ships were in the custody of the British navy as trustees for the allies, a most searching investigation into the nature of the precautions taken obviously is necessary."

Scuttled Ship Blows Up.

Early this morning a violent explosion occurred close to the spot where one of the German warships was sunk yesterday, says a Kirkwall dispatch to the Central News. A huge column of water and much debris were thrown up.

The single German warship which remained anchored last night has gone aground. All the German crews have been placed aboard the British battleship Royal Sovereign.

Rome Newspapers Open
Savage Drive on Nitti

ROME, June 22.—Newspapers antagonistic to former Premier Giolitti are violently campaigning against the formation of a cabinet by Nitti, calling him "Giolitti's lieutenant."

The Giornale d'Italia and the Epoca are especially bitter, maintaining no man having the least connivance with neutralists or those ready to make renunciations in Italy's aspirations must come into power.

Gabriele d'Annunzio has written a stirring article urging patriots to join in "thwarting the conspiracy."

$800,000 Fire Destroys

CHICAGO SOLDIER FIRST AMERICAN KILLED IN SIBERIA

VLADIVOSTOK, June 19, Delayed.—

[By the Associated Press.]—Walter Kellerman of Chicago, was killed, and C. H. Batchelor of Kansas City and Chester Burt of Antigo, Wis., captured in a fight between twenty-five troops and 200 bolsheviks June 12, 100 miles north of Vladivostok.

4 RED ARMIES BEATEN

BY HAROLD WILLIAMS.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

Copyright, 1919.

EKATERINODAR, Caucasus, June 5.—[Via London, June 22.]—Gen. Denikin received me today. Throughout the whole revolution I have not seen another Russian leader who inspires such confidence at first sight.

This is the man who, after the Korniloff affair of 1917, was arrested by order of the provisional government in Berdicheff and brutally insulted and spat upon by hordes of demoralized soldiers who, with Alexieff and Korniloff, led that forlorn and desperate struggle in the steppes, and who not very long ago at the head of his troops advanced in pursuit of the Reds over a burning bridge at Torgovaya.

Denikin Held Progressive.

I heard it asserted in London that Denikin was a reactionary. No appeal could be more inept. He is a man, a patriot, and a soldier, moved by single minded devotion to Russia. He is unswerving in political affairs, but progressive in his ideas, and he is fighting reforms, to which he evidently attached great importance. The military position continues to improve daily. In three weeks the volunteer army has trebled its territory. Only three weeks ago guns could be heard at Novocherkas and Red patrols were within twenty miles of the town.

Four Red Armies Beaten.

Since then along the whole front, from the Caspian to the Sea of Azov, four Red armies have been thoroughly defeated and lost half their number, and are still retreating. Denikin's forces captured 22,000 prisoners, 450 guns, 350 machine guns, 4 armored trains, and an immense quantity of other booty.

Along the Tauris railway, Gen. Wrangel's force of Kuban and Terek Cossacks and Kabardine cavalry have, in nineteen days, covered two-thirds of the distance from Torgovaya to Tauris, and are now within seventy miles of that important Volga town, driving before them the routed and demoralized enemy.

In the Don territory, the energetic northward push of the Don Cossacks will very soon entirely have freed the Don from the Red forces.

Almost more remarkable is the rapid westward movement into the Ekaterinodav government, where, largely through the action of tanks and the daring raids of Gen. Shkuro's horsemen, the Donets basin has been conquered.

As a hard and clean battle against the most treacherous and most unscrupulous enemy that ever devastated the territory and soul of a great nation.

Of the recent successes of his army he spoke without elation, but with quiet satisfaction. He dwelt, too, on his recently announced agrarian and labor reforms, to which he evidently attached great importance. The military position continues to improve daily. In three weeks the volunteer army has trebled its territory. Only three weeks ago guns could be heard at Novocherkas and Red patrols were within twenty miles of the town.

Almost more remarkable is the rapid westward movement into the Ekaterinodav government, where, largely through the action of tanks and the daring raids of Gen. Shkuro's horsemen, the Donets basin has been conquered.

DUNNE MISSION ASKS SHOWDOWN ON IRISH NATION

Letter Calls on Yankee Peace Delegates to Tell What Has Been Done.

BY SPEARMAN LEWIS.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)
(Copyright, 1919: By the Tribune Company.)
PARIS, June 22.—Encouraged by the action of the American Federation of Labor at Atlantic City, the American commission for Irish independence now in Paris has addressed the following letter demanding a showdown from the American commission to negotiate peace. The letter:

"Gentlemen: We beg to advise you the American Federation of Labor at its annual session being held in Atlantic City, by a unanimous vote, adopted a resolution urging international recognition of the republican form of government now existing in Ireland and urging the peace conference to give a hearing to President De Valera, Arthur Griffith and Count George Noble Plunkett on the case of Ireland."

Scholar Reasons for Compliance.
"May we point out some reasons which we respectfully submit should move your honorable body to make every effort to have this resolution complied with:

"FIRST—The American Federation of Labor has enrolled in its membership more than three million men and women, with a sphere of legitimate influence embracing many millions more."

"SECOND—The American Federation of Labor contributed a high percentage to the American expeditionary forces."

"THIRD—The organization was the base and strong bulwark of the division of industry behind the military forces of the United States, without which the war could not have been won."

"FOURTH—Mainly through the efforts of this great organization, its veteran leader, and other officials, the productivity of our country during the great world war was maintained at its highest point and not one day's delay was occasioned in the production of essential war materials by strikes or labor disputes."

Bulwark of Democracy.
"FIFTH—The A. F. L., aside from its purely industrial activities, is, we believe, without exaggeration, the most powerful force existing in the world today for the maintenance of the democracy cherished and practiced by us and for the universal establishment of which America entered the world war; and to which the world must look for unity and class—conflicting governmental ideas ranging from reactionary ambitions of monarchies and autocracies to the extreme dangers of anarchy and chaos."

"We also take this occasion to point out since we made our original request to your honorable body on behalf of the Irish case that America is urging you to try to secure a hearing for the Irish case before the peace conference, and the United States senate with practical unanimity has made the same request. We have transmitted to you from bodies representing a vast number of American citizens of all shades of political belief, composing all the groups which are makers of the national life, cablegrams to the same effect.

Has Hearing Been Granted?
"In view of the fact that the day is so close at hand upon which we all earnestly hope the terms of peace will be signed, with greatest respect but with all urgency, we would ask the favor of a reply to the following questions:

"A. Has the American commission to negotiate peace, or any individual member thereof, made a request to the peace conference for a hearing for Messrs. De Valera, Griffiths, and Plunkett?"

"B. Has your honorable body, or any individual member thereof, made a request to the peace conference for international recognition of the Irish republic?"

"C. Has your honorable body or any individual member thereof made a request to the peace conference for the west park board, have set a strike for Thursday if its demands are not met with by then."

Eleven hundred machinists, tool and die makers on a strike and locked out from a score of shops, have gone back to work. They were granted their demands for the union scale of wages and hours."

and in the cause of humanity and justice, make such requests or any three of which you may deem proper; and, if so, promptly advise us as to the result, or make the same public so that all your petitioners may be advised? The petition is signed by Frank P. Walsh and former Gov. Dunne.

AIRPLANE MAIL SAVES 16 HOURS, OFFICIAL SAYS

Washington, D. C., June 22.—[Special.]—Assistant Postmaster General Praeger told today why the airplane mail for Cleveland was ordered to leave Chicago at 2:30 p. m. instead of in the morning.

"It was found," he said, "that 151 great business concerns sent special messenger mail each noon in an effort to catch the two fast mail trains to the Atlantic seaboard. This meant that much of the correspondence had to be completed the night previous."

"The 2:30 airplane service means that often eight hours to an entire day is saved, and even in the case of the special messenger delivery to the train, from two and a half to three hours are saved."

"The mails are constantly growing heavier, and it is a problem to find sufficient rail equipment. Satisfactory operation of the air mail between Cleveland and Chicago has thus been the means of relieving rail congestion, and one distributing car each day has been cut from that division. Distribution of airplane mail is made in the postoffice. This means that $2,000 yearly is saved, while at the same time rail equipment is released for service elsewhere and mail expedited."

Mr. Praeger says that airplane mail is delivered in Chicago and New York sixteen hours earlier each day because it is made available for delivery in the afternoon instead of the next morning. He expects an airplane mail service to Omaha and St. Louis to be established in the fall.

POLICE GET TIP ON ARGO-BANK ROBBER'S HAUNT

Capture of James Knight, said to be a member of the gang of five robbers who stole $124,000 from the Argo State bank after holding up the cashier and other employees Sept. 25, 1918, is hourly expected.

At the detective bureau last night it was announced that the trail of the fugitive and his wife had been picked up through Harry F. Craig, real estate dealer and broker, of Flint, Mich., who was arrested Saturday at the Fort Dearborn hotel.

Craig had offered for sale a certificate of indebtedness stolen from the bank. He said, after his arrest, he got it from a man who had come to him to buy a small tract of land in Florida to "settle down" on and raise chickens.

The pictures of Knight and his wife were produced.

"Yes," said Craig, "that's the man and that woman was with him."

Despite Craig's defense that he obtained the certificates without knowledge of their history, he was held to the grand jury on bonds of $10,000 on a charge of conspiracy.

Four Men Injured When Automobiles Collide

Besides the drivers of both machines, two men in Karpis's machine were severely injured. They are Alex Lindye, 915 Roscoe street, and David Bloom.

POCOCK MYSTERY MAN IDENTIFIED AS J. S. MINTREN

New Figure Is Hunted as Hoffman Says Poison
Killed Woman.

Identification of THE TRIBUNE picture of the companion of Mrs. Anna Pock, whose body was found Saturday in a room in the City Hall Square hotel, was made yesterday by acquaintances in Cedar Rapids as that of J. S. Mintren of Jackson county, Ia. The man who registered at the hotel with Mrs. Pock wrote the name "J. S. Mintren and wife, Baldwin, Ia." The hotel employee identified him as the man of the photograph, which was found among Mrs. Pock's possessions.

Mrs. Pock met her death at the hands of a jealous man—man who has not yet been named in the case—according to the latest theory of the police last night, based on the opinion of Coroner Peter A. Hoffman that the death was due to an alkaloid poison which had been given her.

Seek Second Man.
Mrs. Pock was not killed by Mintren, according to a belief voiced by Lieut. John W. Norton, who said a second man in the case was being sought.

W. J. Slattery, manager of the Lyric theater in Cedar Rapids, was the first to identify the photograph published in THE TRIBUNE as that of Mintren. "The picture of the 'mystery man' printed in THE TRIBUNE this morning is that of J. S. Mintren," he told THE TRIBUNE correspondent last night. "He used to come to Cedar Rapids often and has many friends here, although I have not seen him for several months."

Following Slattery's identification several other Cedar Rapids business men said they had recognized the picture. Among these was George Woodcock, who said he had known Mintren for several years and that he was a retired farmer living near Baldwin, Jackson county. He said he once had considerable dealings with the man

PYTHIANS HONOR THEIR DEAD AT ELMWOOD CEMETERY

Approximately 500 Cook county Pythians and members of auxiliary bodies observed the memorial day of the order yesterday at Elmwood, the Pythian cemetery. Special military and naval memorials services for knights who died in the war were conducted by Charles A. Davis, supreme chancellor. Every branch of the United States and Canadian services was represented in uniform. Among the speakers were Charles A. Davis, Frank Smith of St. Louis, John Kirby, George Freck, and W. G. Edens.

who registered at the hotel with Mrs. Pock as "J. S. Mintren and wife, Baldwin, Ia." but he did not know whether Mintren had been in Cedar Rapids recently.

Woman's Ventures Traced.
With the identity of Mintren came the disclosure of Mrs. Pock's financial ventures in Iowa, which were followed by the sudden death of her husband, Harry F. Pock, in Canton, O., three years ago.

According to former friends in Iowa City, Mrs. Pock and her husband opened several moving picture theaters in Iowa during 1914. One of these was the Bijou in Iowa City, where the couple lived.

Mrs. Pock was well known here and had many friends among some of the wealthiest families in the city, said J. E. Rosenstein, an Iowa City merchant. "She was always dressed fashionably and was known as a shrewd business woman. She must have owned an estate, as she was the owner of coal land in Ohio valued at $300,000."

From the statements of other Iowa City residents it was learned Mrs. Pock and her husband moved to Maassillon, O., about three years ago. They had been there but a short time when her husband met with a violent death. Soon afterward she came to Chicago to live with a sister, Ada.

With these developments came the statement of Coroner Peter A. Hoffman that he believed Mrs. Pock did not die from natural causes. "The theory death was due to myocarditis has been eliminated," as she had fewer symptoms of this disease than the average normal woman of 44," said the coroner. "From the report of Dr. Burmeister I am satisfied she died from the effects of alkaloid tablets that had been given her. Jealousy is the probable motive."

Lieut. John W. Norton, who is investigating the case, is convinced Mrs. Pock met the man he believes responsible for her death downtown on Thursday night between 9 and 11 o'clock. Information regarding the victim's movements previous to her death last night by a driver for the Yellow Taxicab company.

Time Unaccounted For.
"I brought Mrs. Pock downtown Thursday evening," said the taxi driver. "She called me from her home at 4818 Winchester avenue. She was alone and asked me to stop on some side street downtown. At 9 o'clock she alighted near the Congress hotel."

At 10:50 o'clock that evening she met Mintren. What took place during the hour and fifty minutes she was downtown before she met Mintren, who took her to the City Hall Square hotel, is not known to the police.

The inquest will be resumed on completion of the analyses being made by Dr. Burmeister.

SAGINAW MAN BELIEVED SLAIN

Saginaw, Mich., June 22.—W. Parker Warner, 50 years old, Saginaw leather goods merchant, is believed to have been robbed and murdered by automobile highwaymen near Clio, Genesee county, Friday evening.

Mixing songs of Erin with the music of ivory cubes is bad business when sons of old Ireland are patrolling the beat. An even dozen colored sportsmen found it so last night.

"We're travellin' North Clark," reported Timothy Dalley, Simon Holmes, and W. K. Kelly of the Chicago avenue vice squad, "lookin' for wild ones an' gamblers, when the soft strains of 'Ireland Must Be Heaven' floated up from somewhere near the sidewalk. 'Twas a strange proceedin', and we finds a gratin' for a look, see? There in the corner of the basement was a darktown quartet makin' close harmony across from a live crap game. We stepped in after while, an' here they are."

WANT HOTEL IN GRANT PARK AS HERO MEMORIAL

Grant park yesterday was declared the best location for the memorial hotel War Mothers of 1917 propose to build for the permanent benefit of army and navy veterans.

Committees of the mothers' organization, which met in the county building to discuss memorial plans, will visit Mayor Thompson and south park commissioners this week.

Plans include a twenty-two story structure, four stories to be reserved as dormitories and clubrooms for service men, and the remainder to be used for first-class hotel accommodations, with service men as employees. Other details embrace meeting rooms for patriotic organizations, tablets in the lobby carrying names of every Chicago fighter who served in the world war, a presidential suite, and rooms named for Chicago medal of honor men.

Mrs. Mary J. Lamb, president of the mothers' organization, appointed committees yesterday to push the plans, compile records of all Chicago service men, and to enlist the city's interest in the proposal.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Meeting Demand

IN the manufacture of blankets Constructive Merchandising sets a pace that keeps the best manufacturers on their mettle to supply the standards established by this Store.

Today we create most of our motor robes; we have developed a comforter factory second to none; in Spray, N. C., we own and operate blanket mills whose product is built entirely upon our standards. Our notable success in this branch of service lies primarily in our close touch with public requirements, and our unflinching zeal to supply them.

When war conditions demanded the replacement of goods customarily imported, we met the issue; and today America, aided in large measure by our organization, stands in a place by itself as an independent producer.

To Constructive Merchandising obstacles are but an incentive.

THE smartest Sports Costumes have just appeared in the Misses' Custom Apparel Section. Accordion plaiting is the Fashion note that is greeted most enthusiastically.

Certain distinctive models take jackets of plain silk duvetyn or velours and accordion plaited skirts of a matching plaid or of checked woolen.

The Custom Tailors adapt these styles to the personalities of our patrons.

CATHOLIC DRYS ASK WILSON TO KEEP HANDS OFF

Attack Propaganda of the Wets at State Convention.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Resolutions charging the propaganda intended to nullify the national prohibition amendment was un-American and calling upon President Wilson to refrain from interfering with the enforcement of war prohibition on July 1 were unanimously passed yesterday by the Illinois state convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union at the Knights of Columbus hall, 165 West Madison street.

The resolutions also thanked congress for submitting woman's suffrage
to the states and congratulated Illinois on being the first state to ratify the suffrage amendment.

Attack Liquor Friends.

One of the paragraphs read: "We earnestly appeal to all law abiding citizens to disregard the so-called warnings
of the liquor advocate bolsheviks
whether they come from American Catholics or foreign enemies."

The war record of the Rev. Thomas L. Harmon, former president of the union, who received the Croix de Guerre with palm, was praised and the claim that the United States had taken advantage of the absence from the country of the soldiers to ratify the national amendment was resented.

John F. Cunnane was elected state president and P. J. Melvin was elected second vice president. All other officers were re-elected. The Rev. Thomas
P. Quinn of Quincy, the retiring president, was elected one of the delegates to the national convention to be held in August at New Haven, Conn.

O'Callaghan is speaker.

The Very Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, Washington, D. C., former national president of the Catholic Total Abstinence union and former pastor of St.
Mary's church, Chicago, made the principal address.

"We have been on the side of the under dog," he said, "but now we are on the victorious side of the temperance cause. There is more work than ever to do in the period of reconstruction. I know people in the south who are still bitter against the north because of the liberation of the slaves.

There will be bitterness over prohibition because some will think they have been deprived of the means of extending hospitality to their friends, and we must continue education until the scientific teaching that alcohol is a poison will become the common belief
of the man on the street."

TIE UP GROCER,
TAKE $337, TOSS
HIM INTO ICEBOX

Two men yesterday walked into the grocery and market of Maurice Friedman, 244 Lincoln street, and after binding him with a clothes line removed $337 from his clothing. They tossed him into the icebox to cool off and turned the key in the lock. His wife heard his cries and released him.

"I didn't mind the cooling off process," Friedman said, "but it's hard to lose the coin."

George Westling, watchman of a garage at 529 South Green street, was held up by three men and relieved of $97. Westling resides at 3139 Eastwood avenue.

'T'WAS ANTI-THIS, ANTI-THAT, NOW IT'S 'ANTI-ANTI'

Organization to Fight
"Rule by Fanatics" Is Launched Here.

Spurred into action by the general
"anti" trend of legislation—the eighteenth constitutional amendment and the agitation for anti-tobacco legislation in particular—organization of a national force to combat all national prohibitions has been started.

The Association Opposed to National Prohibitions is now in Chicago. A western headquarters is now open in suite 50-51 in the Auditorium, from which the territory included in nine states of the middle west will be flooded with propaganda of the forces against the prohibitions.

Cradled in New York, it is organized as a membership corporation under the laws of that state.

It is a Year Man Chief.

James Arthur Seavey, former manager of a news service in New York, is the managing director. During the war he was a $1 a year man on George Creel's federal publicity committee. Associated with him on the board of directors are Joseph W. Harriman, president of the Harriman National bank of New York; Percival S. Hill, president of the American Tobacco company; Arthur Coppel, of Maitland, Coppell & Co., New York; Michael Friedman, president of B. Altman company of New York; Lawrence Mo-
Quire, president of the United States
Realty and Development company of New York; and Cornelius J. Sullivan, of Chicago.

The pending organization will radiate branches of the western section to Detroit, Louisville, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Des Moines.

Against All Prohibition.

The association, according to its official announcement yesterday, is not limited to a campaign against the eighteenth amendment. All prohibitions affecting the personal liberties of the people are to be combated. The statement, in part, follows:

"The Association Opposed to National Prohibitions is leading the campaign against any attempt to abridge personal liberty by constitutional amendment. Over a million American citizens have become members of this organization, and protested against any movement to destroy personal liberty as defined by the founders of the republic."

"The objects of this association are not limited to the present wet and dry question, nor has anyone officially connected with it any direct or indirect connection with the liquor business."

"Personal Liberty Abridged."

"We are opposed to the enforcement of the Sheppard amendment effective July 1. The war reasons which prompted its passage no longer exist. President Wilson declared, after the armistice, 'The war thus comes to an end.'"

"We are opposed to the eighteenth amendment because it would force

many of our states into a system unsupported by public opinion and violated in practice."

"We are opposed to proposed anti-tobacco legislation because of its abridgment of personal liberty and its restriction of constitutional rights."

Within a week, it is declared, a Chicago board of directors, to handle the affairs of the association in Chicago,
will be announced, and will include
some of the "big men"—in finance,
labor, society and industry.

In the last two weeks, it is declared, over 250,000 protest cards have been sent to Senator Medill McCormack and Congressman Mason, urging their opposition to prohibition propaganda.

ROB GIRL'S HOTEL ROOM.

Thieves entered the room of Miss Marie
Schultz, Sherwood hotel, 4085 Sheridan road, Saturday night, and stole $50 she had in a trunk. Miss Gertrude Smith, who rooms with her, lost $11.

The Right Shoe

TO recommend the right shoe is a test of ability and intelligent service, for individual needs
most frequently require shoes of anatomical accuracy.

It is in such service that the House of Hanan excels, a responsibility that is emphasized by our many years of experience, and
by the inner building of quality
in every shoe, safely supplementing the external values of attractive leathers and smart styles.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

By A. F. CURRIER, M. D.

I, G. Am a clerk in the postoffice and stand as my very tired from the end of the day. What causes it and how can I remedy it?

A. What else could it be but standing too long? The only effective way to remedy it would be to get a job to remedy it. You might have rubber occasionally. You might have rubber heels put on your shoes and a rubber strip across the ball.

Are you suffering from over fatigue?

FEW people realize the tremendous fatigue that comes from standing or walking all day on hard leather heels. See what Dr.
A. F. Currier of the New-York Globe
says, in the clipping reproduced above,
to a man who has to stand on his feet
all day. Every moment you stand,
every step you take on hard pavements and floors, is a tax levied on your energy.

What Dr. Currier says, applies to nearly every worker. Even though you work at a desk all day, you suffer from the jolts and jars of pounding around on hard floors and pavements.

You can protect yourself from these useless shocks. You can cushion your steps against the daily jolts and jars.
O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks
that tire you out.

It is not just the rubber that gives O'Sullivan's Heels their springiness and wearing qualities.

Rubber, as you know, can be made
hard and brittle as in fountain pens,
or soft and crumbly as in pencil

erasers. To secure the resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

By this special process the greatest resiliency is combined with the utmost durability.

It is this special process that has,
since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today
and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels are furnished in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Specify O'Sullivan's Heels, and be sure that you get O'Sullivan's
—avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

O'Sullivan's Heels

Absorb the shocks that tire you out

When you try your first O'Sullivan's Heels, note their great resiliency. It is their resiliency that prevents you from pounding away your energy.

CUPID JINGLES A TRIANGLE IN CERES' DOMAIN

East Lynne with Illinois Cornfields as Setting.

Story opens on a fair summer's day in a grainy cornfield four miles east of Avon, Ill.—the home of C. B. Eshelman, it is said. Hourly, from the grainy cornfield, a woman in a long, black dress, with a white collar and cuffs, and a white apron, is seen walking to the hickory pole at the barnyard, at the top of which is suspended a bell. She pulls the rope, and the bell rings. And as the woman walks to the hickory pole, she is seen to be carrying a basket of corn. She is seen to be carrying a basket of corn. She is seen to be carrying a basket of corn.

Enter the "Villain."
Now then James Rayward of Galewood, a handsome, a bachelor—had to own the 160 acres just south of the Eshelman farm. His hands all the farm and he had to go down to the setting. Lonesome farmer's daughter, no respite from daily drudgery, no doubt, but dreamy women will. Along comes a man, sympathetic, chivalrous, with a name like "East Lynne."

Jim, at the corner whittlers in town came to know Rayward, had no use for him, so he boarded at Charley's house—Charley is Mr. Eshelman's son.

Charley was intent on making this story crop yield a goodly profit, so he had to leave the budding romance. About about ten days ago, when the girl's name's Rose—disappeared, as it did.

Comedy Comes Home.
"Now listen, Reed," said Charley to his father, "I think that gal has gone off with Jim. I've read about this kind of thing in the papers. I thought it was only in the funny papers."

"But Charley, I've seen her," said Charley's father. "Watch my smoke."

Charley and Reed arrived here Friday. They were sleuthing near the house and found that Charley had stopped traffic with:

"There's that gal, there's that gal. There's the Jim with her. She's all right. Guess she used some of the $1,000 that disappeared from the cornfield when she left."

"I won't go back," said Charley. "You wife stealer, to Jim. 'You—' 'I don't want to go back. I won't go back. You mistreated me. There was no spice of romance in your life. I interrupted Rose."

"Police, police," exclaimed Reed, "there's a special constable star. There's a policeman Roderick Alymer came along, and East Lynne was transferred to the central detail station."

It was his life bank was found $700. Jim had $100. They had been staying at the Plaza hotel, they said. He is at the central station, she is at the central station. She says she will never go back to Cornfield on the Avon.

Anyway, the case will be heard this morning in the court of domestic relations.

DARING DAMSELS RUSH INTO LAKE UP TO ANKLES

Loss of Microscope Prevents Description
of Costumes.

BY GOSH.

[The World's Greatest Detective.]
Having been commissioned to investigate why men leave home for the bathing beaches, I packed my dictagraph, microscope, goggles, false whiskers, and other addenda of disguise and slipped out of my Argyle stockings at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, deliberately choosing a late hour in order to give the Aphrodites time to dress—or undress, as some put it.

My previous deductions that it would be a perfect summer day were confirmed upon my arrival at Sheridan beach. All the girls were out in their winter furs, while the motor buses, automobiles, and the contained thousands of straw hats shielding the scowles of the males from the blistering sun.

Disguised as Nat.

My first stop was the Argyle beach, which was already filled with nuts, but I escaped detection. In order to ally suspicion, I doffed my outer garments and lay supine on the sands in my bathing suit and feigned oblivion. The ruse was highly successful. No body appeared to notice me.

I had been told that 100,000 persons visited the beaches each Sunday. I find this to be correct. More than 50,000 stepped on my neck and feet, before I arose to a sitting posture. Hereafter I shall build a rafting around my feet and put up a sign: "Please do not trespass; private corns."

His Microscope Falls.

I was able to observe few bathing suits, my microscope having developed strabismus. However, everybody wore khaki. Just behind me gathered a party of fair young nereids. They appeared normal, but pretty soon they drew a ukelele and had there all day committing music. Watson informs me this is considered the neplus ultra of beach conduct.

As the afternoon waxed I trekked to Clarendon—not because I wanted to, but the boys had instructed me to and besides there is a soothing, magnetic, melodic, charm to the word Clarendon.

when, inserted properly on an expense account blank.

Clarendon, O. Clarendon;
My Clarendon, swears Clarendon;
Fasten, etc. etc.

That Needle's Eye.

Well, at Clarendon I saw nothing that would justify me in calling the police except the usual number of bathing suits, that a blind man would have had arrested for disorderly conduct. Some of them resembled apples—especially those on the male appendages—while others, affected by the femininity, were striped like ice cream bricks.

These latter were orthodox, however, any one of them being able to pass through a needle's eye. Watson remarked here that a stitch in time would have saved fine happy homes, and then some, mayhap.

Speaking of the male species, I detected a number of married specimens. You could tell these by a certain droop of the shoulder, a resigned, not to say meek expression of the eye, and the general loose and flowing lines of the costumes, resembling the Doc Atkinson, Topkapi, and Santa Fe lines.

Restraints His Cheers.
"Don't cheer," I reproved the irresponsible Watson, as one passed us en route to the water. "He's somebody's hero. And anyway a man makes a bet looking after piece than he does a fish."

"Look, look," cried Watson.
"They're going in."

It was true. They were going in. We had thought they wouldn't. They had come down in those show window outfits, and had extracted from their reticules, rouge, lipsticks, eyebrow pencils and whatnots, devoting an half hour to the cosmetic rites and wrongs.

Clear Up to Andies.

Then they had assumed the proper, carefully recumbent position in the sands. Ever see the three graces? Well, then you get me. These were so different. None of them would tip the scale at less than two stone, and when they got all fixed they looked like Pelion and Ossa on a won. But now—

"Half a leg, half a leg—"
Half a leg onward. But then it stopped. They went in to their ankles, enough to wash their feet, giggled, and came back. They say the fish never come inside the 200 yard danger limit on Sunday for fear of drowning.

The best weather man could do for us yesterday was 78 degrees. This was reached at 8 o'clock last night. The minimum was 76. He predicts showers for today.
Look out for sunshine.

SHEWANTSPLANE TO PIONEER IN, BUT CAN'T GET IT

Mrs. H. L. Potter Asserts She'll Stay Here Until Dealers "Ante."

Daniel Boone had a wilderness; Columbus had an ocean, and Joan of Arc found swords and clanking steel thrust upon her. What Mrs. Harry L. Potter of Madison, Wis., would like to know is: How can you be an aviator without an airplane?

MRS. HARRY L. POTTER

Mrs. Potter, fresh from her conquests of the automobile field and in the realm of trapshooting, has come to Chicago with the intention of staying on the job until the two seated biplane in which she intends to make aviation safe for femininity is produced by dealers who declare they have planes for sale.

She Wishes to Pioneer.
"Some one has to be a pioneer," she said yesterday. "The field of aviation for women is practically unlimited. Man has so far combined to put a muzzle on the freedom of the air."

"Women have flown for exhibition and commercial purposes, it is true. They did the same thing when the automobile first came in. But few, if any, women have gone into aviation for sport, the joy of air piloting. I want to help show the women that aviation is a feminine diversion, but how can I pioneer if they won't produce a plane for me to buy?"

Purchase of an airplane is a long and tedious process, according to Mrs. Potter, who says she has been "stalled off" by aviation agents for weeks.

"I'm due to hop off for Madison tomorrow," she declared. "I have promised students at the university to bring them the plane as part of their reunion celebration, and I don't intend to leave Chicago until I leave it in my own machine."

He Pays Her a Tribute.
"Yes," said one airplane dealer, "I know Mrs. Potter. If I had a salesman half as purposeful and persistent I'd double his salary."

Mrs. Potter is credited with having pioneered in trapshooting for women. Hundreds of women have followed her lead since she won the western championship in St. Louis. She brought her pilot, Lieut. Robert Erickson of Madison, along to make the reunion "hop" with her and hopes to get away in her new plane today, if it arrives.

The Fighting Star

THAT world-famous drama of the Civil War, "Secret Service," is now a Paramount-Artcraft Special.

And the star is an American soldier who fought in France, Major Robert Warwick, a member of General Pershing's Staff.

This is the play that won success in all the capitals of the world, that made William Gillette, both as author and star.

Hugh Ford is the director and he has assembled a wonderful cast.

Robert Warwick's acting will thrill you by its sharp revelation of the terrible actualities of the work of a military secret service man.

"Secret Service" is not a war picture. War is the background but secret service is the plot—and when you see it you will realize that nothing that has happened in Europe can dim the heroisms of the Intelligence Department in the 60's.

N. P. L. DISCARDS WILSON; OPENS BOSOM TO LENINE

Townley's Party to Seek Radicals and Others Opposing Capital.

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

St. Paul, N. D., June 22.—[Special.]—Viewed from the angle of hard-fought politics and the possible influence it may exert upon the campaign of 1920, the Nonpartisan league has an interesting aspect.

It has abandoned President Wilson.

Its drift is toward a pool of all the radical groups which are seeking to capitalize discontent, the league with its immense war chest to serve as a "leading" angel.

The North Dakota movement is both a political and economic. In 1916 President Wilson was its idol; "The New Freedom," written by W. W. was its bible. It bought the book by the state and recruited it to members as the "new day" program in North Dakota. Wilson carried the state by virtue of the league.

Wilson Near War in Minnesota. In Minnesota the president came within an ace of it. Right up to election day the Republican national managers were confident Hughes would carry Minnesota by at least 50,000. They "pook-pooked" the league. But when the vote was counted Hughes had carried Minnesota by less than 400 plurality—the league had piled up the Wilson vote.

Right up to a year ago the league, despite its pacifism and its screaming that the war was a "moneybags war," was quite in rapport with the administration. Close observers said that from the political viewpoint the president was playing with economic factors in this section of the west in a far more skillful and subtle manner than any other American politician, past or present.

But the Paris peace congress seems to have changed all that. The league, which extolled the president, is now denouncing him with bitterness.

Comments Then; Condemns Now. As a sample of what it is saying, the Courier-News of Fargo, the league's daily newspaper organ, on May 9 ran an editorial headed "Should Have Heeded the N. P. L." It said: "President Wilson, instead of the greatest man in all history, will return to America broken and discredited. He went to Europe the idol of all its common people; he returns literally without friends; for even the imperialists to whom he has surrendered all his blood have no confidence in him, while the people will look upon him as one who, with the power to help them, betrayed them into the hands of their old enemies, the owners of profits and the makers of war."

The president of the Courier-News, it may be remarked, is William Lemke, right hower of A. C. Townley and chairman of the Nonpartisan league committee, which was captured by the Nonpartisan league in the same year that it swung the state to Mr. Wilson for president.

Will Abandon Old Parties. The same organ says the Republican party is a "dead one." From all quarters there are indisputable evidences that next year the league proposes to keep aloof from either of the old parties and cut in on its own. North Dakota, being almost 90 percent agricultural, is controlled by the farmer vote. In other states, where agriculture is not so predominant, the league's plan from the start has been to link up the farmer vote and the labor vote.

In this process, wherever it has operated so far, the league, it cannot be denied, has affiliated itself with the extremists among the labor group. There are plenty of indications that for the 1920 campaign a development is afoot for an amalgamation of effort by the following: The Nonpartisan league, the radicals in labor, the extreme Socialists, the new National party, started chiefly by right wing Socialists as a protest against the St. Louis disloyalty platform, the I. W. W., and the Trotsky disciples, from parlor Bolsheviks to bewhiskered revolutionaries.

CHICAGO WOMEN TO TELL OF PROBLEMS IN ARMY LIBRARIES

Two Chicago Women, Miss Elynn C. Broome, 5750 Midway park, and Miss Mary E. Ahern, editor of Public Libraries, will address the American Library Association conference at Asbury Park, N. J., tomorrow.

Miss Ahern, who recently returned from overseas, will tell of her experiences in providing books, magazines, and newspapers for American soldiers in the war zone. She has been engaged in library affairs for several years.

Miss Broome is acting as librarian at Camp Grant, Ill. Her subject will be "Camp Library Problems."

aries busy with soviet propaganda in the large cities.

The league's membership is now placed at about 240,000 in the Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, and Idaho.

It has enough members to make it a most important factor in the voting next year. The figures are: North Dakota, 40,000; Minnesota, 70,000; Montana, 25,000; Idaho, 30,000; South Dakota, 25,000.

In Nebraska it has 15,000, and is organizing to elect delegates to the constitutional convention next fall. It has 15,000 members in Colorado, 15,000 in Wisconsin, 8,000 in Kansas, and 9,000 in Washington.

Each member pays $10 for a two year membership, which yields a fund of $3,840,000 by simple arithmetic. In other words, the league leaders have absolute control over the spending of nearly $3,840,000 a year, a war chest such as no similar movement has ever possessed.

ERICSON PLANS TO MAKE FIGHT FOR HIS PLACE

Denies He Has Resigned and Says He Won't Do So.

City Engineer John Ericson told a Tribune reporter last night that he had not resigned his position, had not offered to, and would not.

On the contrary, he said, he intended to stick right on the job and fight the efforts of the city administration to oust him.

He also declared that one of Commissioner of Public Works Francis' men had informed him that the administration wanted the job for another man and that there was more than one way of getting him out.

P. S. Combs, a city administration adherent, who is now acting as first assistant to Mr. Ericson as a temporary appointee, was the man, according to Mr. Ericson, who slipped the chief engineer the information that he had better pack up and get out quietly and quickly.

Took Place of Colonel. Combs was sent to the position by Commissioner of Public Works Francis. He took the place formerly held by Col. H. S. Baker of the 11th engineers. As soon as Col. Baker gets around to it, now that they have finished the job in France, he probably will assume his old position.

"It is true that Mr. Francis has not talked to me direct," said Mr. Ericson. "Mr. Combs, however, told me some time ago that the administration would like the place for another man."

HEIRESS-BRIDE NEAR RECOVERY; SEYMOUR HELD

Wife Abandonment to Be Charged in "Calomel Case."

Unless she has a relapse, Mrs. Hazel W. Seymour, the 19 year old heiress, will recover in a few days from the effects of mercurial poisoning taken in the form of medicine. Before the end of the week it is expected she will be able to face Charles D. Seymour Jr., her husband, in court when he is arraigned on a charge of wife abandonment.

After a married life of less than three weeks, Seymour left his bride in a rooming house on North Racine avenue on June 14, "to go on the road and sell some bonds." Mrs. Seymour became sick the next day, and blamed her illness on eight tablets of calomel her husband gave her before he left. She was taken to the Lake View hospital and her mother, Mrs. Laura J. Witz of Washington, D. C., was summoned.

Husband Held in New York.

Seymour was arrested by the New York police Saturday on a fugitive warrant charging him with abandoning his wife, whom he married in Baltimore, Md., on June 3, after a short courtship in Atlantic City, N. J. Detective Sergeant Joseph Mallory, who has the warrant sworn out by the mother Saturday, said he expected to leave for New York as soon as he gets word Seymour will waive extradition.

Dr. C. I. Wynekoop, 737 Sheridan road, president of the Lake View hospital, said last night Mrs. Seymour is on the road to recovery.

"She ought to be all right in two or three days," he said.

Son of New York Broker.

Seymour is the son of a New York broker, according to Mrs. Witz, who said the police of a number of cities to arrest him.

Inspector Grant of the Washington, D. C. police department said Mrs. Witz called the Seymour home in New York on the long distance telephone after the marriage and made some inquiries of her new son-in-law. A woman's voice answered her, assuring her that "Charley was all right."

"LOST"

"Little Boy Blue," at Detention Home No. 1, Who Sobs for His Mamma.

"Little Boy Blue" is waiting at Detention Home No. 1 with tears in his brown eyes for his mamma. He "got lost" Saturday morning on State street and ever since the police picked him off the curb he has been nameless and homeless—but not friendless.

Officers and matrons watching over the 2 year old boy are living again in childhood's fairy kingdom. For his little bare feet remind them of "the barefoot boy with cheeks of tan"; of one of the babes lost in the woods, who lay down on the strawberry leaves and died. But this little boy isn't going to die. He wants his mamma too much.

At times he says he is "Little Boy Blue" and then "Billy Boy." The matrons like the former, because he is garbed in blue rompers.

"Ollinger" or "Orringer" is the nearest Sergeant John Mason can come to his name. The "Salle" street which he sobs probably is La Salle street.

"Little Boy Blue" was asked what his father did.

"He hits me in the face," was the reply. His mamma, he said, was good to him.

Inspector Hale drove up in his machine at night and brought his little poodle dog so the boy from fairyland wouldn't be lonesome. The child played with the dog until the sandman closed his eyes.

SOLDIER SEEKS WIFE WHO FLED WHILE HE FOUGHT

When Sergt. George Schmid returned from service overseas with the 24th engineers he expected that Marie, his wife of only a few weeks before he joined the colors, would be waiting for him. He went to his father's home, 1221 West Seventy-third place, but there was told that she had gone to the home of her parents, at 6050 South Union street.

Schmid went there in search of her. "They told me," he repeated to the Englewood police yesterday, "that she had stayed out a little at night and that they had scolded her. About the middle of February she packed up and left, and though I have looked everywhere for her there is no trace. I want her to know that wherever she is, or whatever she has done, I am ready to forgive. I want her back again."

Snub Twelve Costly Autos, Steal a Flivver Each

Three automobile thieves early yesterday morning stole three "flivvers" from the garage of N. T. Burnell, 216-218 South Oakley boulevard, scoring twelve more expensive cars. Neighbors heard them in the garage.

Fifteen automobiles were reported stolen during the last twenty-four hours.

LOWDEN SIGNS SEIZURE BILL; EXEMPTS HOME

Takes Brundage Ruling That Family or Guest Is Not Affected.

veals the fact that the legislature did not understand the words 'give away' to mean anything other than a device to cover a sale. The attorney general has given an opinion in which he sustains the position of the proponents of the bill.

"He says, 'It is my opinion that the provisions of the search and seizure law forbidding a person to 'give away' or dispose of, or aid any person in procuring any intoxicating liquor in any quantity whatsoever, when construed with all the provisions of the search and seizure law, would not make it unlawful for a person to serve intoxicating liquor to his family or bona fide guests in his residence or apartment in the course of the hospitality ordinarily shown guests.'

"Use" Not Prohibited.

"It is also clear that the bill under consideration does not, as many suppose, prohibit the possession or use of alcoholic beverage. Upon this point the attorney general says: 'I can find nothing in the reading of the entire bill which would lead me to the conclusion that the legislature intended to prohibit the use of intoxicating liquor.'

"It will thus be seen that the federal amendment prohibits substantially everything prohibited by the bill before me. The real question, therefore, is, shall the federal amendment be given effect? Even if all the evil consequences claimed of prohibition be true, much greater harm to society would come from nonenforcement of the plain provisions of the constitution than from prohibition. The enforcement of the law and all the law, under our form of government, is the indispensable condition of the security of society.

Prohibition Accomplished Fact.
"Most of the arguments urged against the bill would have been appropriate and persuasive before the congress when it submitted the question of prohibition to the states, or when the question was submitted to the legislature of the several states for ratification. But prohibition is now a part of the supreme law of the land. It is an accomplished fact. Whether wisely so is not the question before me.

"There seems to be an idea prevalent that you can have prohibition in law and not in fact. This is a dangerous assumption. Many who have importuned me most earnestly to vote this bill have confessed that they supported the movement which resulted in the federal amendment. The representatives whom they helped to elect to the general assembly in many instances voted for its ratification, and voted for the bill before me, of which they now complain, and yet the protests against this bill rest—unconsciously, perhaps—upon resentment against the federal amendment. I am asked, in effect, to give relief against the constitution of the United States, as though that were in my power.

PENALTIES UNDOULY HARSH

"But it is said that the present bill is unduly harsh in its terms. It does provide penalties in my judgment out of proportion to the offense created. I fear that in some instances these provisions may tend to defeat the purpose of the bill. That, however, was purely a question for the legislature. The objection to the bill most strongly urged is that in its search and seizure provision it invades the privacy of the home. That provision seems to be entirely misunderstood. The section authorizing a search and seizure in prohibition territory contains this proviso: 'Provided, however, no warrant shall be issued to search a private dwelling occupied as such unless such warrant is signed by two judges and unless such residence is a place of public resort, or intoxicating liquor is sold or kept for sale in violation of the law.'

Quotes Attorney General.
"In construing this section the attorney general in his opinion says: 'You also ask me whether, under any circumstances, it would be lawful to search a private residence for intoxicating liquors in a place where the householder has intoxicating liquors in his possession for his own use and for the use of his family and bona fide guests. My reply is that there is no warrant of search and seizure of a private residence for intoxicating liquor in a private residence on this statement of facts.'

"The proviso, however, is so clear in its language that construction is hardly required. I cannot imagine how the popular misapprehension of this section of the law could have arisen.

Can't Increase Pretext.
"It is said, however, that this provision may be used as a pretext for entering the private home for some ulterior or sinister purpose. If any individual now desires to use the right of search for such purpose, he can do so under other statutes. If one's private enemy desires to invade his home for some improper purpose it is easier now to procure a warrant of search and seizure under the ambling act, the affidavit would be easily made and would contain no more falsehood in the one case than in the other, and it requires two judges. With this bill a law the private house where liquor is kept, unless such liquor be sold or offered for sale, I undertake to say, is as immune as at present from search and seizure purposes and this law would not reach it. This is what was intended.

Apartment a Home.
"Some question has been raised as to whether a private dwelling includes an apartment. The attorney general advises me that there can be no doubt but that it does.
"The subject of this bill has been

N. U. MAN HEADS CHURCH SOCIAL HYGIENE BUREAU

Prof W S Hall, M. D., of Berwyn, who for twenty years has been professor in the medical department of Northwestern University, has been engaged by the Rev Dr. Scanlon of Pittsburgh, Pa., secretary of the Presbyterian board of temperance and moral welfare, to take charge of the board's newly organized department of social hygiene in coöperation with the program of the Presbyterian new era movement.

PROF. WINFIELD SCOTT HALL, secretary of the Presbyterian new era movement.

This is an important step in the development of the Presbyterian plans for greatly enlarging the original scope of the board of temperance. The board's activities, narrowed in the United States by national prohibition, have been broadened in other channels.

Under the direction of the Presbyterian general assembly, which authorized the change of the official title to the board of temperance and moral welfare, the board is taking up social service and will organize several departments of which that of social hygiene is the first equipped.
Dr. Hall is the author of many medical works and for 18 months was lecturer on social hygiene in the army camps.

discussed for many years before our people and before our legislature. It has been the issue upon which more legislative contests have been decided in recent years than any other issue. The legislature has finally acted. It is not claimed that the law is unconstitutional. It certainly cannot be said after all the years of controversy which have raged around it, that the bill was hastily passed. There is no ground upon which, in my opinion, it would be warranted in vetoing this bill. It will therefore become a law."

BRUNDAGE'S OPINION

Attorney General Brundage, in his opinion, given to Gov. Lowden, said: "You ask me whether, under the terms of senate bill No. 130, passed by the fifty-first general assembly, known as the search and seizure law, the language, 'Give away, or dispose of, or aid any person in procuring any intoxicating liquor in any quantity whatsoever,' when construed with all the provisions of the search and seizure law, would not make it unlawful for a person to serve intoxicating liquor to his family or bona fide guests in his residence or apartment in the course of the hospitality ordinarily shown guests."

"Is construed to mean that a person would not be permitted to serve intoxicating liquors to members of his own family in his own home or apartment, or to bona fide guests in the ordinary courtesy of hospitality."

Section 3 of the search and seizure act provides: "Whoever shall, within prohibition territory, by himself or another, either as principal, clerk, or servant in any manner, manufacture, keep for sale, order, purchase, receive, transport upon any highway, cause to be transported upon any highway, take an order for, sell, give away, any intoxicating liquor in any quantity whatsoever, shall be punished in the manner prescribed in section 8 of this act."

Keen "Purpose" in Mind.
"This statute is highly penal in its provision, and, according to well recognized canons, must be construed strictly, keeping in mind the great central object the legislature had in view in its enactment and the evils to be prevented. The title of the act is 'An act to restrict the manufacture, possession, and use of intoxicating liquor within prohibition territory.'

A reading of the entire act discloses the fact that the legislature intended by this law to prohibit the manufacture, transportation, sale, and trafficking in intoxicating liquor, except for medicinal, sacramental, chemical, and manufacturing purposes. The law does not seek to interfere with the private stock of intoxicating liquor now in the possession of the householder.

As to Guests.

"Since the reading of the entire law

discloses that the legislature did not intend to interfere with the possession of the private stock of intoxicating liquor held by a householder or the legislature in commanding that a person should not 'give away or dispose of, or aid any person in procuring any intoxicating liquor in any quantity whatsoever,' intend by this language that none except the owner of the intoxicating liquor could lawfully consume any of this private stock?

"The courts of this state have construed that portion of the statute known as the dram shop act of March 30, 1874, which prohibits the giving of intoxicating liquors to minors, habitual drunkards, and persons while intoxicated, but the general purposes of the dram shop act of 1874 are so dissimilar to the present search and seizure law that they furnish no guide in the solution of our problem."

Cites Michigan Cases.

Mr. Brundage here cites two cases from Michigan, which state, he says, has a law very similar to our search and seizure law. "In one of the cases the defendant served eleven pint bottles of beer to a large number of guests who visited the defendant on the occasion of the birthday anniversary of his daughter. It was a surprise party. The beer was not purchased for the occasion and it was not claimed there was any intention to violate or to evade the law."

The supreme court of Michigan held that the statute was not intended to prohibit the individual use of intoxicating liquors, nor to invade the privacy of the home and interfere with the owner's decent exercise of hospitality toward his guests, but we do not think the terms of the act warrant a further limitation of its operation.

Mr. Brundage then continues: "It is my opinion that the provisions of the search and seizure law forbidding a person to 'give away or dispose of, or aid any person in procuring any intoxicating liquor in any quantity whatsoever,' when construed with all the provisions of the search and seizure law, would not make it unlawful for a person to serve intoxicating liquor to his family or bona fide guests in his residence or apartment in the course of the hospitality ordinarily shown guests."

The "Nuisance" Provision.

"You also ask me to render you an opinion as to whether the provisions of section 15 of the search and seizure law declare a place a common nuisance in which intoxicating liquor is used. Section 15 of said act provides: 'All places within prohibition territory, where any intoxicating liquor is manufactured, kept for sale, used, or in any manner disposed of in violation of any provision of this act, shall be taken and held and are hereby declared to be common nuisances and may be abated as such.'

My attention has been called to opinions written by very eminent members of the bar, who contend that this language should be construed to mean that any place where intoxicating liquors are used is declared to be a nuisance. I cannot agree with this construction of this law. In arriving at the meaning of the language of section 15 this language should be construed with all the other provisions of this law, together with the intention of the legislature in passing the law, and taking into consideration the evils which are sought to be remedied by the law."

Strained Conclusion.

Section 5 of the law enumerates all those things which are forbidden. Section 3 does not, in terms, forbid the use of intoxicating liquors. The legislature by the enactment of section 15 of this law evidently did not intend to enumerate any acts as unlawful other than those that are made unlawful by section 3 of the act. The evident intention of section 15 of the act is to declare those places to be common nuisances in which the acts forbidden in section 3 of the act are performed. If the language of section 15 were, 'All places within prohibition territory where any intoxicating liquor is manufactured, kept for sale, or used, shall be taken and held and hereby declared to be common nuisances,' there would be ground for sustaining the construction contended for, that this law intended to prohibit the use of intoxicating liquors."

"Use" Not Forbidden.

"But this section as enacted provides that 'All places within prohibition territory, where any intoxicating liquor is manufactured, kept for sale, used, or in any manner disposed of in violation of any provision of this act, shall be taken and held and are hereby declared to be common nuisances.' 'I can find nothing in the reading of the entire bill which would lead me to the conclusion that the legislature intended to prohibit the use of intoxicating liquors.' 'It is my opinion that the mere use of intoxicating liquor by an individual is not forbidden by the provisions of this law, and that places where intoxicating liquors are used in any manner that is not in violation of the provisions of this act do not render such places a common nuisance.'"

"The legislature was obliged to deal with the situation that many householders had intoxicating liquors in their possession that will be consumed before the traffic will be entirely done away with, except for the limited purposes described in the act. The law provides for confiscation and destruction of this intoxicating liquor, now in the possession of the individual, only in case it is sold or disposed of contrary to the spirit of this law."

Like Other "Searches."

"You also ask me the question whether the state's attorney of this county has full control of a proceeding in which a search warrant is taken out to search for intoxicating liquors. My reply is that no different rule applies to this proceeding than applies to other criminal and quasi-criminal proceedings under the law. An individual may make complaint before a judge that he has just and reasonable grounds to believe, and does believe, that intoxicating liquor is manufactured and kept for sale, used, disposed of, or transported in violation of any law of this state, and further setting forth the facts upon which belief is based and the judge may issue a search warrant if a proper showing is made. This may be done without the consent of the state's attorney or without consulting the state's attorney. 'The search warrant is not a new remedy under our law. We have at the present time statutes permitting the searching of buildings for stolen goods, for counterfeit money, for obscene literature, for lottery tickets, for gambling apparatus, and for public books and records withheld by a public official from his successor in office.'

Present Conditions Not Changed.

"The search warrants, under these several statutes, are rarely invoked and there is no complaint that there has been abuse of the privacy of business places or residences by the misuse of the search warrant under these several statutes. The precedents that have been established under these several statutes will be largely followed in the proceedings under the search and seizure law under discussion. The powers and duties of the state's attorney under this law will not be different than under the other search and seizure laws referred to."

"My reply is that there is no warrant of law for a search and seizure of intoxicating liquor in a private residence on this state of facts."

Why the Congress of the United States Asked Fair Play for the Irish Republic

Because America entered the world-war for the avowed purpose of making the world safe for democracy, the championship of the rights of small people, and the reign of law based upon the consent of the governed.

Because the people of Ireland for centuries have sought and were denied an opportunity to prove their right to self-government by submitting facts to a candid world.

Because our Declaration of Independence contained this same plea and denounced Great Britain "for cutting off our trade with all parts of the world." "For imposing taxes without our consent." "For transporting large armies * * * to complete the work of death, desolation and tyranny * * * with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, etc."

Because Ireland helped America to win and preserve its independence (one-third of Washington's army was Irish), Lord Mountjoy in 1784 stated that "America was lost by Irish immigrants, and that England had America detached from her by force of Irish immigrants." Leaders, such as Generals Sullivan, Montgomery, Wayne and Commodore Barry in the Revolution; Jackson at New Orleans; Meagher, Mulligan, Shields and Sheridan in the Rebellion, were shining examples of Irish valor for American liberty.

Because millions of the Irish race in America gave the full measure of devotion to their country in the great war and Provost Marshal Crowder reports officially that the number of exemptions were less among the Irish than with the English, Scotch, Canadians, Belgians, French, or Italians.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN visited Ireland in the cause of the colonies, and wrote that the sympathy of the Irish was general and that the causes of America and Ireland were similar.

THE CONTINENTAL CONGRESS in its address to the people of Ireland stated: "Your parliament has done us no wrong; we acknowledge with pleasure and gratitude that your nation has ever produced patriots that have nobly distinguished themselves in the cause of humanity and America."

GEORGE WASHINGTON, upon the testimony of his adopted son, claimed that "the Irish were the companions of his toils, his perils, his glories, in the deliverance of this country."

PATRICK HENRY'S immortal words to the Virginia Assembly, "Give me liberty or give me death," were uttered in the interest of all mankind. Edmund Burke's denunciation of British perfidy in the English Parliament a century and a half ago applies with equal force today.

England and her allies accepted the aid of America in men, money, munitions and moral support. Justice now demands that the agreement be enforced in spirit and letter, and liberty be granted Ireland even as Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Finland, and other nations have had their plea for independence recognized. Ireland is the only one of these countries that has had a plebiscite and has self-determined for an Irish republic.

England's aid to the Confederacy, for which the Geneva Tribunal obliged her to pay the United States over $15,000,000 for violation of neutrality, should be remembered, especially when advocates of a British-American alliance suggest the cancellation of England's war obligation and the re-writing of American history.

The Irish question is not a religious question, because Ireland, a predominantly Catholic country, has had Irish Protestant leaders with but two exceptions for the past one hundred and twenty-five years.

Ireland's case cannot be compared with the case of Scotland. There were never any settlements in Scotland of hostile Englishmen as there have been settlements in Ireland of hostile English and Scotch. Scotchmen conduct the affairs of Scotland, Englishmen dominate the business of Ireland. Scotch trade has flourished under Scotch control. Irish trade has been strangled under English control.

Ireland asks for nothing except justice. Ireland believes America will demand fair play.

The Irish Race Convention, held in Philadelphia, pledged a fund of $2,000,000 that is now being subscribed throughout the United States for the purpose of enlightening American public opinion upon the Irish question which has become an American problem.

TRAPS MAN BY DICTOGRAPH AS TAKER OF $6,000

Woman, Ex-Loan Agent,
Regains $5,250 Paid
"to Hush Story."

For many years Mrs. Mary B. Horton, operating in the loop, loaned money to the needy at rates that rapidly piled up a considerable fortune.

When law aimed at "loan sharks" were passed by the legislature, she was able to retire on her income, and rental from real estate and freedom from business cares made her life one of ease and comfort.

But in June of last year the money began to circulate again in her loop, and when Mrs. Horton learned that her former business had been engaged in a scheme with her, she suggested the buying of notes was a profitable and legitimate business.

Mrs. Horton, who had been engaged in the business of buying and selling notes, was operating under the name "J. J. White," was opened in the Hartford building. In November, 1918, when additional capital became necessary, Mrs. Horton loaned $2,000 more to the business.

A Mysterious Voice.
Voice drifted into months and there was no return on Mrs. Horton's investment. She began to suggest to Mrs. Keating there should be some investigation of the original capital. Mrs. Keating put her off. Early in January, 1919, Mrs. Horton became impatient.

Then one day Mrs. Horton received a telephone call from a mysterious man. "I'm a reporter for THE TRIBUNE," said the voice. "We know you are back in the loan shark business and we are after you. We'll have you in jail."

Mrs. Horton went to see Mrs. Keating. Mrs. Keating suggested she had better get the law on her side. The affair might blow over. Mrs. Horton followed the advice and nothing happened.

On Feb. 19 she had regained her composure sufficiently again to make an attempt to force some repayment of the capital she had loaned for the founding of the "J. J. White" company. She visited Mrs. Keating and became rather emphatic.

Within an hour and a half the mysterious voice was on the wire again. Mrs. Horton at that time handled her south side real estate holdings through John T. Shay of the First National bank and drew $1,000 more on her personal check. She turned over the money to Shay.

"Now you had better beat it out of town," said Shay.

Friends Give Her Tip.
Chastely Mrs. Horton climbed aboard a flyer headed for New York. Finally she consulted some friends and they convinced her probably she had been duped.

She returned to Chicago and went to John J. Downey, attorney, who had been handling her north side real estate holdings. Downey called in David D. Stansbury, formerly a assistant United States attorney, and they decided to bring Shay downtown and have a talk with him.

In the basement of the First National bank are a number of rooms where depositors can have conferences. Mrs. Horton, as a depositor, arranged to have one of these rooms. She had been formerly of the department of justice, installed a dictograph in room 32 in the basement.

Shay Walks Into Trap.
Last Wednesday Shay came downtown, induced to do so on a pretext Mrs. Horton wished to consult him. In the next room Mr. Groh and a stenographer were waiting.

ENEMIES OF FREE SPEECH

Young Women Who Are to "Ring Off" Talks on Suffrage.

Lengthy discussions on suffrage at tomorrow night's victory dinner at the Hotel La Salle will be "out of order." Anticipating the difficulty in halting several of the leading suffragists, who will attempt to smash long distance talking records, officials of the Equal Suffrage association will install a bell to meet the situation. When a speaker reaches the three minute time limit the bell will toll the knell of the speech.

met Shay at his office. There, when told the conversation in the First National bank had been recorded by dictograph, Shay admitted, according to Stansbury, that he had received the money from Mrs. Horton and had not paid it to any one. He said he had bought a diamond ring with $400 and deposited $1,500 with the Central Trust company the day he got it. Shay's physical condition was such Mr. Stansbury was unable to go further.

Friday, however, Mr. Stansbury went to Shay's apartment. "Now, where is the diamond?" he asked. "In my compartment of the office safe," said Shay.

Deeds Over His Reality.
"Give me the key," said Mr. Stansbury. Shay handed it over. Mr. Stansbury went to the office, recovered the diamond and Shay's deposit book on the Central Trust company. The book showed of the $1,500 originally deposited only $350 remained, but for this Shay gave an order.

In the safe, however, were found papers showing Shay had bought real estate to the value of $4,500 and conveyed it to his sister, who conveyed it to him the same day. This real estate Shay decided to Mrs. Horton in repayment, and the deeds will be put on record this morning.

Of the $6,000, recovery has been effected to the extent of $5,250.

Shay Tells His Story.
Shay made the following statement to a TRIBUNE reporter: "This Keating woman came to me and said: 'Mrs. Horton has $8,000 in the bank. I want to get some of it. She is scared to death of THE TRIBUNE. You call her up and tell her THE TRIBUNE is after her.'"

"I received $6,000 from Mrs. Horton, but I only benefited to the extent of $1,500. The rest of it went to Miss Keating. I don't know what she did with it."

"I do know, though, that Stansbury and a man named Groh came here Friday and threatened me until I turned over to them my deed for a piece of property worth $10,000."

Mr. Stansbury, when asked whether Shay would be prosecuted, said the entire case would be laid before State's Attorney Hoyne this morning, and whatever action was deemed best by the prosecutor would be taken.

"WHY DID THEY KILL HIM?" WAILS BANDIT'S MOTHER

Can't Understand Why the Police Shot Son Who Was Good to Her.

BY CHARLES G. MACARTHUR.

In the opinion of the police, Rudolph Boruda was a good man dead. They knew him as a nervous crook, who used a gun.

Much congratulatory back slapping took place in the Deering street police station early yesterday morning after Boruda was killed. The detectives who "got" him shook hands all around. The first deputy superintendent of police came out from town to agree with the captain and the lieutenants that a neat bit of police work had been done.

"Two or three more killings would give these kid bandits something to think about," the detective sergeants said.

Woman Enters Station.
A woman hurried into the station—a little old woman with a black shawl bound closely about her head. She was weeping.

"Rudie"—she cried, clinging to a detective's arm, "what have you done with my boy?"

"Who are you—what do you want?" replied the policeman, endeavoring to free himself.

"My boy Rudie—did you do with him—I'm his ma."

"O, you're Boruda's mother?" said one of the policemen. "Why, he's dead—shot."

The old woman's hand slipped off his sleeve. She stood dazed and staring.

"He was a bandit—shot at an office," added the policeman lamely.

Fails to Understand.
The woman, uncomprehending, shook her head. The policeman formed a ring around her and shot questions: "Who does he run around with?"

"You knew he was a stickup man, didn't you?"

"How did you know he was dead?" Wide-eyed, the woman listened. Then she pressed the corner of her shawl to her eyes and groped out of the station. On the station stairs she slid into a sobbing heap.

"It's a lie," she wept. "The kids they kill, and the robbers they let go. He was a good boy—only 18—he wasn't a bandit."

Over and over again she repeated it, as if trying to convince herself. No one was near her. At last she stumbled to her feet and went crying down the alley towards home.

Tell of Virtues.
On the rocky steps of the Boruda home at 2866 Keeley street were Rudie's three weeping sisters. The mother silently took her place among them. She laid her head on the topmost step and wept silently.

"He was a swell kid," sighed a blowy woman neighbor, who had come over to condole. "It's a shame the way them cops kill people."

"He ain't a bandit," screamed the mother. "He's my boy—I know. The cops don't know him. Why, when he was getting 15 a week at the machine shop he used to give me every penny of it. He never went out with bad boys. Every night he used to sit here on the steps with his ma."

"When Francis's baby was dying, didn't he stay up all night with the doctor and run after medicine? Didn't he take me to all the socials at the society? Is a kid like that a bandit? He was only a kid—just 18—"

Refuses to Be Comforted.
"Don't, ma," said a boy who came up and seated himself beside her. "It'll be all right sometime."

"It won't. I'll never be all right," cried the mother.

The children remained in stolid silence.

"Why," she persisted. The three girls looked at each other and did not reply. The mother fumbled for a moment with the knotted corner of her handkerchief and untied a nickel.

"I'm going to see Pa," she said. "Pa knows Rudie ain't a bandit."

"O, Ma, it's too late," said one of the girls. "It's three in the morning."

"Pa's a night watchman out on the west side—about eight miles away," she added as explanation.

"I'm going to see Pa. He knows," repeated the mother.

And she pulled her shawl a little more tightly about her face and went down the street.

ONE DEAD, ONE INJURED, TOLL OF RACE RIOTS

A casualty list of one colored man dead, another wounded in action, and several more slightly wounded was published by the police late yesterday, after Sunday morning's race riots on the south side.

There were two minor clashes and one major operation against the colored men in the area bounded by Fifty-fifth street, Sixty-third street, Cottage Grove avenue, and the parks.

The known casualties are: Robert Robinson, 55, 514 West Fifty-fourth place, killed. Police found him at Princeton just north of Garfield avenue, dying, with four knife wounds in the back. A shot from a revolver had pierced his groin.

Ollie Harris, 46, 5647 Groveland avenue, shot in abdomen, knife thrust in scalp. Taken to the county hospital, where it is said he may die. Was rescued from mob at Fifty-seventh street and Lafayette avenue.

The most animated combat, that at Fifty-fourth and Princeton, started shortly after midnight, according to Capt. Tom Coughlin of the stockyards police station. He marshaled his forces at that point, dispersed the combatants, and arrested about twenty white men.

Baby Girl 18 Months Old

Vella Rothman, 18 months old, 3839 North Clark street, received probable internal injuries and severe bruises on her arms and head last night when she was struck by a Clark street car as she was crossing the street in front of her home with her brother, Irving, 9. The boy was uninjured.

"LITTLE ITALY," 2, TRIES TO GROW UP ON A COFFEE DIET

THEY call him "Little Italy" at THE TRIBUNE summer hospital in Camp Algonquin, to differentiate him from "Bigger Italy" and "Biggest Italy," his two higher-up brothers.

He's 2, tiny and truculent, with arms and legs so frail he can hardly use them, and great black eyes gleaming from a pinched little face.

"Little Italy, here's some nice milk to make you big, an' fat," said Mrs. Laura J. Collar, superintendent, yesterday.

"No," said Little Italy, "I ain't toffee." And that's how we discovered a baby can struggle up on a diet of coffee.

He had saved the $400 with the intention of sending it to relatives in Greece, she said, and became angry when she wished to buy a new dress. The argument began anew Saturday night.

Yesterday morning, she said, he began to quarrel again and finally ran to a bureau, took out a revolver, and said he was going to kill her.

She grabbed his arm, she told the police, and he shot her in the right arm. She fell to the floor and he, apparently believing he had killed her, turned the weapon on himself.

Cheer Up, Folks; You'll See "Moonshine" Soon
There was no "Sunshine" last night. An audience at the Studebaker theater which waited for it to appear went home disappointed. Richard Carle, the star, failed to punch the time clock and after much scurrying around the management finally announced he was ill in his room. Cash paid for tickets was refunded.

$400 AND WIFE'S PLEA FOR DRESS CAUSE TRAGEDY

Dissension regarding the disposal of $400 in savings is believed to have led Steve Karos, 4731 South Oakley avenue, to attempt to murder his wife, Anna, then kill himself with a revolver.

The story was told the police after they had taken the woman to the bridge hospital to receive treatment for a wound in the right arm.

According to her version, her husband had worked more than a year, both night and day, during the day he was employed as a laborer in the stock yards and in the evening he made extra money acting as a clerk in candy and fruit stores.

He had saved the $400 with the intention of sending it to relatives in Greece, she said, and became angry when she wished to buy a new dress. The argument began anew Saturday night.

Yesterday morning, she said, he began to quarrel again and finally ran to a bureau, took out a revolver, and said he was going to kill her.

She grabbed his arm, she told the police, and he shot her in the right arm. She fell to the floor and he, apparently believing he had killed her, turned the weapon on himself.

There also is the district in which Charles H. Segel, president of the sanitary district board, essays to convert around a big. Segel is out with a plan for abolishing the sanitary district as a separate municipality. He wants it assimilated by the city.

Trustee Wallace G. Clark, who has been making the high brow attitude on the drainage board, may lock horns with the Segel forces in the delegate primary and make this one of the big issues to go before the convention.

Trouble in Fourth.
There also is promise of an old fashioned battle in the Fourth district, Frank Ragen of county board fame already is in the field as a Democratic candidate. "Sentinel" Daniel Sullivan most certain to be a candidate. Lieut. Charles F. Brown also is favorably mentioned among the Democrats.

The Fifth district high brow Hyde Park section may form a combination with the Sullivan forces whereby an agreed delegation will be named. In that event Daniel Sullivan would carry the biscuit maker's colors, probably, unless Michael Igoe, Democratic minority leader in the house, insists on being the Democratic delegate.

Hyde Parkers, however, may get up on their high horse and elect two Republicans from the university section.

Labor Men After Seats.
Organized labor spokesmen have been planning for some time to make a fight for delegates to the convention in the effort to take the injunction clause out of the organic law of the commonwealth, as well as seek other benefits for the union man.

John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, would very much like to sit in the convention, but after what he did to Mr. Switzer's campaign in the recent mayoralty battle he will have to walk over Roger Sullivan's dead (politically) body to get there.

Secretary E. N. Nickols of the federation would not refuse a ticket, but he probably will not have the opportunity. He is up in the Lincoln park district, where the populace is not crazy about him.

The municipal ownership crowd also is brushing up the old propaganda stuff that has been on the shelf since the Dunne administration and will make a stab for a few delegates. The home rulers also are bestirring themselves.

The strongest single fight by any organization for delegates in Chicago probably will be put up by the United Societies for Local Self-Government, backed by all the wet interests.

REFORMERS ASK CONVENTION AID FROM SULLIVAN

Need His Help to Take Part in Framing
Basic Law.

BY CHARLES N. WHEELER.

Plans are afoot to have the police bosses of Chicago send to the constitutional convention men who know some thing about the constitution as it now stands and may be relied upon to express an intelligent view along remedial lines.

Roger Sullivan, for instance, who will control the great majority of the delegate nominations in the Democratic primary in the nineteen Chicagoan Cook county districts, is looked to for aid in this scheme.

Some of the prognosticators have hoped it out that the biscuit maker and his friends not only will control most of the Democratic nominations in Chicago but, this being ah off year, stands a good chance of electing a majority of all the delegates from Cook county.

Asked to Be Reformer.
That Mr. Sullivan is going to Springfield with a formidable following is admitted by the party chiefs. The high brows have an inkling this is about what will happen. They, accordingly, are going to ask Brother Sullivan to leave a few of his ordinary lawmakery at home this time and make good at a real reformer by letting them get inside the convention.

There are one or two "special interests" advocates that Mr. Sullivan and his aids probably will take care of. Levy Mayer, now directing the leg batteries on the dry strongholds, probably will go to Springfield to help write the constitution. Mr. Mayer resides at the Blackstone hotel. That is in the First ward. Aid. Michael Kepka also is in the First ward, and the ward will do what he tells it to do in the matter of naming delegates. The First district, which will send two delegates, will do what the First ward says shall be done.

Kenna for Mayor.
It is understood that Mr. Kenna may desire that one of the delegates be a brewer of wood and a drawer of water, but is ready to give Mr. Mayer a ticket of admission to the convention hall.

Mr. Sullivan himself probably will be a delegate from the Twenty-first district if the Democrats carry the election in November. They usually do in this district.

Boettius Sullivan, son of Roger C. is slated as a delegate from the twenty-ninth district—just across the river to John F. O'Malley's farm. He probably will have little trouble picking the winners both in the primary and the election.

In Third District.
The third senatorial district will assure quite a bit of present indications. Senator Samuel A. Estel son, who also holds down the corporation counsel's office for Mayor Thompson, has had little trouble controlling the district machinery for himself. He probably will be a candidate himself for one of the delegate tickets, or else back someone the city hall is interested in.

This also is the district in which Charles H. Segel, president of the sanitary district board, essays to convert around a big. Segel is out with a plan for abolishing the sanitary district as a separate municipality. He wants it assimilated by the city.

Trustee Wallace G. Clark, who has been making the high brow attitude on the drainage board, may lock horns with the Segel forces in the delegate primary and make this one of the big issues to go before the convention.

U. S. and Swedish Flags Raised at Good Templar Fete

Ten thousand members and friends of the International Order of Good Templars, assembled in Ravinia park yesterday, to celebrate Swedish day, elected as the most popular and prettiest girl Gertrude Johnson, 2554 Pine Grove avenue.

The election closed an all-day program of dancing, marching, and athletic contests. The varied program consisted of flag raising demonstrations, in which the raising of the American flag was followed by the raising of the Swedish flag and the flag of the Good Templar order. Folk dancing, soccer games, and a band concert furnished by the band of the Chicago chapter completed the celebration.

FASHIONS BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE. NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Everything from morning frocks to dance gowns makes use of net. Houses of net are having a tremendous vogue, and right here let us speak of the black net overblouse worn by one of the most fashionable models. Although unadorned by color, this model with its round neck, long, generously cuffed sleeves, and embroidery of black silk thread has no suggestion of mourning. And its particular appeal comes from the fact that it is combined with white batiste elaborately embroidered in self-color silk. The most arresting feature is the pocket effect achieved by furling of the loose side sections of net. Natter blue grosgrain ribbon confines the waist. The back is the same as the front.

Chicagoans to Be Graduated Today at Williams College

Williamsstown, Mass., June 22.—(Special.)—Commencement exercises for the class of 1919 at Williams college will be held tomorrow, when a class of sixty-four will be graduated. The class is unusually small on account of the war, as more than thirty men are prevented from graduating because of military service. The majority of the latter will receive degrees honoris causa.

The Chicago men graduating are: Arthur Meeker Walker, 1118 Sheridan road, son of J. R. Walker. He recently was elected to the Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic society, and is also a member of the senior honorary society at Williams. He left college at the end of his sophomore year, but by taking extra courses this year is able to graduate. He was a captain of infantry in France for a year, where he was twice wounded severely. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Henry Russell Platt, 1404 Asbury avenue, Evanston, who has been a member of the varsity track and cross country teams since his freshman year and belongs to the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. Willard Newhall Boyden, 1118 Hinman street, Evanston, who was a member of the varsity baseball for three years and of the Chi Psi fraternity.

Four others, being Benedict Fisher of Springfield, Howard Goodman, 5753 Woodlawn avenue; Franklin Ames Morse, Evanston, and Harold L. Stubb of Lombard were formerly in the class of 1919, but were unable to graduate because of withdrawal from college to enter the army. Goodman, who was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and the other three men are still in the service.

A record breaking number of class reunions are being held this week at Williams. Although only eleven classes are scheduled to hold reunions, according to the plan at Williams, between thirty and forty classes are represented by large numbers.
